The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) has approximately 500 staff members worldwide. Its headquarters are in Vienna and it has 21 field offices as well as liaison offices in New York.

With UNODC's increasing worldwide demands to train police officers, customs agents and other law enforcement personal it became increasingly clear that the UNODC was in need of a company with a robust in house infrastructure and abilities to create large amounts of quality custom training.

Rapid Training Requires Flexibility

With such a rush of new training programs required, outsourcing the job to a qualified agency was the only solution available. The UNDOC required a Managed Learning Service partner sophisticated enough to work with them to create their entire E Learning initiative.

Time was of the essence, a large amount of custom training needed to be created in many different languages. It would also need to be available online to different law enforcement organizations around the world. UNODC also expected that custom programs needed to be developed to get around the various obstacles associated with online training.

But most importantly the custom training needed to be very high quality with 3D/2D animations, sound, hands on interaction, tests assessments, final exams and SCROM compliant.

Service That is Unmatched in the Industry

UNODC selected LearnMind,Inc. after a rigorous selection process that included virtually hundreds of custom training companies.
