

Secretary-General thanks winners of `UN 21' Awards for helping renew, strengthen organization.

LearnMind Wins Prestigious UN 21 Award

November 27 2006

LearnMind, a world leading Custom Training developer received the prestigious United Nations 21 award for its amazing content and highly interactive E-Learning and CBT training used worldwide by hundreds of thousands of users in over 20 different languages.

Last year, there were over 60 projects nominated for the 2006 awards from across the global Secretariat, involving over 450 staff members. Seven evaluation teams comprised of five staff members for each category, drawn from throughout the global Secretariat, reviewed, evaluated and made recommendations (17 projects for Awards and 13 projects for Commendations) on the projects submitted in each category. The High-Level Approving Panel reviewed the recommendations made by the evaluation teams. Only 13 projects were ultimately selected as Award-winners and 7 projects to receive Commendations.

Http://www.un.org/webcast/un21awards/

